OVATION FOR GYMNASTIC HERMES IN BIG PARADE

NEW YORK WILDLY CHEERS ATHLETES IN REMARKABLE DEMONSTRATION.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Unlimited enthusiasm prevailed throughout the public demonstration and the exercises in the city hall today in honor of the athletes who so successfully represented America in the Olympic games in London last month.

The celebration began with a military parade. During the imposing procession, which numbered more than 25,000 marchers, the athletes of America, and in particular the gymnasts, were greeted enthusiastically with cheers, the shouts of approval and the waving of flags on the other side of the water, and thus making their place in the great parade both the nation and the State were represented by imposing detachments of troops, national guards and naval militia, while the city showed its devotion to the athletes, but also in honoring the Olympic games, by the presence of the national colors and the emblems of the various national athletic clubs.

15,000 Boys in Line.

An element of the procession that was second in the favor of the numbered through only to the Olympic victors, and their return to the city, was the division consisting of 15,000 boys from the Public School Athletic League. There were big boys as well as little ones among them and they got ovated everywhere.

Coast artillery, battalions of marines, United States soldiers and sailors and all the National National Guard regiments took part in the parade. The third was made of the Olympic athletes, who were dressed in their uniforms and the reception committee. These were followed by the Olympic city officers and the reception committee. Gold Medals for Athletes.

Each athlete was loudly applauded as he received his gold medal. Melvin Sheppard and Martin Sheridan, the two great prize winners, Ralph Bone, the winner of the Marathon, and also J. C. Carpenter of Cleveland and W. C. Robinson of Yale, of the much discussed 400-meter run, were particularly favored by the crowd.

Hager, Carpenter and Robinson were given silver cups in addition to their gold medals, as special marks of distinction. Carpenter also was distinguished after outrunning the English champion, Lieutenant Hon. John. Robinson was distinguished in that 100-meter run by being considered in a run-off, were given ovations as they bore off their cups.

BIGELOW LOSES FIGHT TO LIFT BRIGLIGHT JOB

The Massachusetts Supreme Court today denied the petition of A. R. Higdon for a modification of the recent judgment brought by the Old Dominion Copper Company.

Higdon claimed his rights had been infringed by the former decision, and asked to be allowed to plead the decision in the United States Court in a bar to the petition.

The petition was to vacate or modify the judgment, recently granted, and leave in its place a judgment awarding that the decree should be set aside, and a new one in New York City was decided, and there a bar to Higdon's petition was there.

CONTESTANTS FOR CELTIC BEAUTY PRIZE.

WHO'S IDEAL CELTIC BEAUTY IN ALL BOSTON

Every woman in Greater Boston will want to read the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN tomorrow.

In connection with the contest to determine the most beautiful Celtic girl in Boston, which will be brought to a close on Tuesday next at 6 p. m., the SUNDAY AMERICAN will print the following, which every woman interested in the contest, and every friend of every woman interested, has been anxiously waiting for.

1. Names of the committee of Boston A. O. U. L. men selected to decide the contest.

2. Scores of photographs of beautiful young contestants.

3. Full details of the theatre party which the AMERICAN will give next week to all the contestants.

4. Andrew Mack's own estimate of what Irish beauty really counts, which will be interesting to men as well as to women.

5. Contest Nearing Close.

With the contest drawing so rapidly to a close, additional photographs are being received at the AMERICAN office hourly.

They are coming from all sections of Greater Boston. Every county in the Emerald Isle is represented by some of its fairest women, and every part of Boston by beautiful young daughters of Irish-American families.

So contest ever held in Boston has attracted greater interest among the women.

As quickly as the contest closes Tuesday, the committee will get to work on the photographs. They will go over them carefully, and the fact that all the members of the committee are believers in sufficient assurance that none of the twenty lines in any photograph will be overlooked.

To the winner of the contest the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN will present a check for $100. What girl wouldn't like that?

Wouldn't it be worth the expense of a Fall vacation, and how nicely it would cover the cost of Fall and Winter wearing apparel.

Send Name and Address.

What a fine start $100 would make on a bank account.

Besides the $100, the winner will be entered on an important place in the list of the most beautiful Celtic girls in Boston.

Andrew Mack's prize, "Arish-Na-Fogus," won at the Park Theatre.

Every photograph, it should be remembered, must have the name and address written plainly on the back.

And no photographs will be accepted in vacation, and how nicely it would cover the cost of Fall and Winter wearing apparel.

CASTLE SQUARE CONGRATULATES BIG WELCOME

Pleasant Surprises for Audience at Opening Night of the Season.

Surprises, all of them pleasant, were in order at the opening of the season at the Castle Square Theatre last night. The play was a surprise. It is the work of a young dramatist, and it is a very good one.

But the surprises began before the performance did. For the actors were young women and there was an orchestra of young women. The play was a surprise.

The crowd house last night gave John and Mary Young were particularly fortunate in the number of remembrances received.

Then she wakes up and is most pleasantly surprised to find that she was not dreaming, and that she is right in the middle of the modern movement in which she is dressed when she fell asleep.

As an incident on the performance Miss Kate Ryan read a clever version in verse of her colleagues, and also of the theatre manager, and to William Park, stage manager.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Henry Waterman of Kentucky, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, today gave out the Democratic national headquarters in this city an advance copy of an address which was to be issued by William Alexander Waters of the African Methodist Episcopal Church to the colored people of the country.

In the letter Bishop Waters alludes to W. H. Taft as "a party to the blackest conspiracy ever perpetrated against negroes."

Bishop Waters accuses President Roosevelt and the Republican candidate of joining "practically identical the Lily White movement in the South, which has for its ultimate object the partial elimination of the negro from politics."

The only party that can change the direction of the movement, which has been directed against us without a great political and financial amounting almost to a revolution.

James H. Doyle, ex-alderman, ex-superintendent of streets, ex-campaign manager and Democratic leader in Ward 12, has announced his candidacy for the Senate in the fourth south district.

Coming upon the support of James Donovan and the Ward 9 organization, as well as the support of Alderman "Jim" Doyle in Ward 12, Doyle hopes to win the nomination. Congressman Keith, whom Doyle is supporting by his rights against County, is expected to help Doyle along also for the former superintendent of streets. Doyle's candidacy will be the first step of strength for the new formed League Fitzgerald-Navy alliance in Boston's Eleventh district.

PARDON ME!

There Is a Hopeful
Thing About
Big, Oppressive
Corporations

They Are Dull, Near-Sighted, Like
the BIG, Oppressive Rhinoceros
Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner

The rhinoceros is a most dangerous beast. HE MIGHT be one thousand times more dangerous. He fears nothing; his horn is sharp, and he can rip open the stomach of an elephant as easily as you would open a grapefruit; but the rhinoceros cannot see very well. He is a very short-sighted creature, and when he dashes at you all you have to do is to wait until he gets near, step to one side, and he goes on for a couple of blocks and never finds you again. He is so foolish that he has to have a little bird eating the insects and warning him while seated on his back.

The trust, which is the American elephant and rhinoceros combined, the big, grasping, powerful corporation, is like the elephant and the rhinoceros. If it were not it would crush everybody.

Just now we are talking about the gentlemen in charge of the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Those gentlemen, it is true, are only Englishmen, poor, far-from-up-to-date Britons, but they live near enough to the American trust atmosphere to pick up some ideas, also SOME SHORT-SIGHTED FOOLISHNESS.

The Canadian Pacific gentlemen have had a strike on their hands recently. They have been showing their high spirit and their great intelligence by having Japanese scabs rapidly take the places of the strikers. The Japs come in; they are plucky little brown men; they will fight for their jobs as well as anybody, and the corporation is delighted, and thinks it has done a very smart thing.

But has it done such a smart thing? What the corporations would like in America is the cheapest kind of labor—Asiatic labor—Japanese or Chinese preferred.

What the ordinary human being in America needs is a chance to make a living in a civilized way on civilized standards, and EXCLUSION FROM OUR MARKETS OF JAPANESE AND CHINESE LABOR, WHICH WOULD LOWER THE STANDARDS OF BOTH PROSPERITY AND MORALS.

The gentlemen of the Canadian Pacific Railroad think that they are acting very cunningly when they use Japanese scabs to fight white men on strike. As a matter of fact, they are spreading through Canada and all over this country the very sentiment that is going to protect the white workers; they are developing the united opposition to Asiatic labor that will absolutely compel the exclusion of all Asiatic immigration to this continent.

The Canadian Pacific may possibly win this particular strike with the help of scabs. Times are hard, labor is scarce, although money is plentiful to help corporations in their fights. But whether they win or lose this strike, the Canadian Pacific men will render a service to all workers on the American continent. They have shown an actual living proof and picture of the danger of Japanese and Chinese labor. They are putting before the eyes of the world and the workers plain, visible proof of the arguments against Asiatic immigration.

The platform of the Independence party, which nominated Higen and Graves, the party for which intelligent workmen will vote, emphasizes clearly this peril. The following is the Independence party's plank on immigration:

"We oppose Asiatic immigration, which does not amalgamate with our population, creates race issues and un-American conditions, and which reduces wages and tends to lower the high standard of living and the high standard of morality which American civilization has established. We demand the passage of an exclusion act which shall protect American workmen from competition with Asiatic cheap labor and which shall protect American civilization from the contamination of Asiatic conditions."

The man who thinks for himself realizes the truth of the statements in that plank. But a good many men do not see things clearly IN THEIR MINDS ALONE. The arguments must be presented to them living, solid, something they can put their hands upon.

The Canadian Pacific Railroad in very timely fashion supplies the object lesson demanded by that Independence plank on Asiatic immigration.

The Asiatic comes here; he has no feeling of brotherhood with the men that work in this country. He has no share in the struggles, the aspirations, the courage that sent the European to this country and built up this country. He is willing to take any man's job.

In America the ordinary professional scab is a second-rate man, a cheap man, who can hardly hold his job when it is given to him.

BUT THE ASIATIC, SO FAR AS THE AMERICAN IS CONCERNED, IS BORN A SCAB. The Chinese or Japanese will take any white man's job, and he will be rather amused in his funny brown brain at the idea that he is putting a white man out of work.

The Japanese and the Chinese will stick to his own kind, but he will enjoy cutting out whites and cutting down wages.

And the Canadian Pacific gentlemen, as near-sighted as a rhinoceros and as heavy as an elephant, are giving the workers the very proof that they need, and inspiring men all over the country to uphold and fight for and vote for the Independence party in its opposition to immigration of the brown men that the corporations would use everywhere to fight home labor.

"Climbing" in Society
The Struggle to Rise in the Fashionable World
Generally Means a Decline in Morals

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner

I HEARD a bright woman say recently: "The moment a woman begins to strain after social distinction, moral degeneracy sets in."

The remark seems to me to be a little too general, but it is a more deserved position, she will take it up and spread it. But to do honor to great talent or great merit surely for itself—

The woman who had been sweet and affable and kind and companionable before she became a "social climber" not infrequently loses all these qualities afterward.

Her sweetness gives place to haughtiness; her affability to reserve; her kindness to selfishness, and from an agreeable companion she is transformed into a self-conscious loner.

She patronizes her former chums who are not quite suited for her new circle of associates, and she looks to see how many of them she believes to be above her.

She patronizes her former chums who are not quite suited for her new circle of associates, and she looks to see how many of them she believes to be above her.

Friendship loses meaning. "HE uses" her friends as means to an end; and the moment we "use" a friend we lose all sense of decency and meaning of friendship.

To ask a favor of a friend is one thing; we all like to be of service to our friends; but to deliberately cultivate or enter to a person because we look ahead and perceive some possible personal benefit from the association means the beginning of the decay of true friendship and ideals.

She entertains not because she is social by nature, nor because she cares to see or enjoy the people she gets together, but to show outsiders what society she is acquainted with. Money and position,

What fools these mortals be!

On the Road to Slumberland

By James J. Montague

ON THE Road to Slumberland, where the stars by night—
The Interns of the fairies—hang in the sky of light.
Journeying toward Happiness all the children go;
When the stories all are told—when the lamps are low;
All the Pleasant Things they knew—back in Yesterday.

THEIR Folk of Story Books wait at every turn;
There the Bean Stalk rears its head and Cruel's Camp Pines burn;
Humpty and Peter Pan beckon as they pass,
Alice smiles and waves her hand in the looking glass;
All the Jungle People watch through the sunset's glow,
Guarding every shadow way that the children go.

ON THE Road to Slumberland children of the rich
Troop with luteled girls and boys—none knows which is which;
Jays there are enough for all very one may share,
And the hard old whirling world does not see nor care.
What a throng about the gates of Slumberland there'd be
If any save the little folk could ever find the key!
